

I understand the FCC is considering a rule to control unsolicited sales calls to the home phone number of citizens. I would like to point out that Indiana enacted such a law recently and it has been very effective. I used to receive many such calls and now receive none. Please do not enact anything that overrides Indiana's law. Thanks.